

2023/24 University fees for new entrants

Norwich University of the Arts will assess students' tuition fee status using the guidance provided by the UK Council for International Student Affairs

Students from the UK or Ireland and EU students with 'Settled' or 'Pre-Settled' status will be charged 'Home' fees if they meet the relevant residency requirements. They will usually be eligible for a tuition fee loan from the UK government, meaning that they won't have to pay NUA's tuition fees upfront.

Students who do not meet the necessary residency requirements will usually be charged 'Overseas' fees and will not be eligible for the UK government tuition fee loan. Since 2021/22, this includes new entrants from the EU, EEA, and Switzerland who do not have 'Settled' or 'Pre-Settled' status, because the UK has now formally left the EU.

Inflation in subsequent years

The rules for inflation on fees in subsequent years depends on the type of fee status and level.

For Home undergraduate students starting in 2023, inflation may be applied to your fees in later years, if the UK government were to increase the fee cap beyond the current limit of £9,250 per year. If such an increase were to apply, we would confirm this in advance to you of each academic year, and we would limit the increase to the maximum allowed by the Office for Students.

For Overseas undergraduate students starting in 2023, inflation will be applied to your fees in later years. We will confirm this in advance to you of each academic year, and we will limit the increase to no more than the Office for Students' recommended inflationary measure, which is RPI-X. RPI-X is calculated by the Office for Budget Responsibility. In setting fees for the following year, we will use the Office for Budget Responsibility's RPI-X forecast for quarter 3 of the relevant year.

For Home and overseas postgraduate degree students starting in 2023, fees will remain the same for each year of your course.
